100 Persons Help With Cleanup of Albion Campus

ALBION, Sept. 19—Annual cleanup of the Magic Valley Christian college campus was held Saturday with more than 100 persons, from as far as Boise and Utah, participating amid warnings that this small struggling private college may lose its state status. President Donald Nelson pointed out this cleanup duty has been held each year since the college started in 1958. Persons participated today from Gooding, Rupert, Twin Falls, Boise, Brigham City and Ogden. Nelson said he invited Gov. Robert E. Smylie, who was at Heyburn for the dedication ceremony of the new four-lane highway, to inspect the campus. The governor said he was unable to visit today because of other commitments but would try to later.

Friday at Boise the state land board heard a recommendation from Joe Simpson, an Albion banker, that the college should be closed. Simpson, who is a trustee of the college, but emphasized he was speaking as an individual, said he agreed with a report of O. J. Buxton, state land commissioner, earlier in the week, that the buildings and grounds were in "deplorable" condition.

However, as the reporter mingled with townspeople and supporters who have helped in previous cleanup days, she learned that after the former Southern Idaho College of Education was added to Mersey hospital in Redding.

Russ Sets Record Straight on Weapon

MOSCOW, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Both Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and the official Tass news agency set the record straight today. They said he was not boasting of a new Soviet deadly weapon Tuesday but was speaking of Russia's deadly weaponry. Khrushchev said he was talking about non-nuclear weapons for infantry, tanks and tanks when he spoke to a group of Japanese lawmakers. They quoted him as referring to a "monstrous new terrible weapon capable of destroying mankind."

Tass, in its English-language version of Khrushchev's speech, said today he talked of "this terrible weaponry" but made no reference to any particular weapon. Khrushchev used the expression "russkoye oruzhiye," a phrase which can mean both "terrible weapon" and "terrible weaponry."

"We are developing the most up-to-date means for the defense of our state, our people, means for defending international peace," Tass official version of his statements said. "We are well aware of the destructive power of this terrible weaponry and we should like never to use it."

The government newspaper, Izvestia, published a Russian language version of Khrushchev's talk to the Japanese.

Tass said Khrushchev based his remarks on an inspection tour of Soviet defense plants.

"I had to spend the day yesterday inspecting new types of weapons," Tass quoted Khrushchev as saying. "I stayed all day long with the military, with the scientists and engineers who work in this field."

"I had to do this because there are not only weapons in the world, and I am compelled to have means to protect myself from them."

3 Americans Are Wounded In Viet Nam

SAIGON, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Three Americans were wounded yesterday in a Viet Nam attack by communist guerrillas within 25 miles of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman announced.

Two officer-pilots were wounded by a spray of metal fragments when the Reds shot up their helicopter, the spokesman said.

An enlisted man was shot in the ankle yesterday while he was advising Vietnamese soldiers in action against the communists.

The three men were reported in good condition at the U.S. navy hospital here today. Their names were not made public.

Negroes Live In Fear, Says Rights Man

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 19 (UPI)—A young Salt Lake civil rights worker said today that Negroes and those attempting to help them obtain their rights in Mississippi live in constant fear.

Peter Kaiser, 20, who returned home after a month as a voter registration worker in the south, said registering to vote "can mean not only loss of livelihood, but loss of life as well."

Kaiser, son of Dr. and Mrs. Irvin H. Kaiser, said his job was to canvass neighborhoods to urge Negroes to register.

"I was never out on the street alone," he said, "and never did I do a car without taking someone along." He said unless workers and Negroes had a witness with them, police would hold individuals incommunicado for weeks at a time.

Policeman Pulls Over When Man Aims Gun at Him

OMAHA, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Police pulled over a driver pulled alongside him, aimed a revolver at him and bellowed: "Pull over."

White, off-duty and not in uniform, said he was driving on the Dan Ryan expressway yesterday when he heard the order and looked out the window into a revolver's muzzle.

"That man was really in a hurry," White said later. "I pulled over and let him pass."

White then chased the car, but it in heavy morning rush hour traffic.

Stolen

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Vivian Lenord's totem pole has been stolen. But it shouldn't be hard to find. It weighs 150-200 pounds, is eight feet tall and from top to bottom—has an open-mouthed eagle, a chief and a fish. It's blue, green and white. It's said to be 200 years old.

Mrs. Lenord told police yesterday she bought the Alaskan Indian totem pole 22 years ago for $15. She says it's now worth some $4,000.

Mrs. Lenord offered $200 for return of the totem pole.

Gunman Robs McNamara's Daughter, 22

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Margaret Elizabeth McNamara, 22, daughter of the secretary of defense and Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, was held up by a masked gunman as she sat with an escort in a car outside her home early today.

A police lookout described the gunman as Negro in his 20s, about six feet tall. He fled the neighborhood on foot.

Buhl Man Hurt In Warehouse

BUHL, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Diehl, 30, Buhl, was reported in fair condition Saturday at Magic Valley Memorial hospital, Twin Falls, after being injured Friday afternoon in an accident at a Buhl warehouse.

It was reported the man was crawling through a grain bin when a stack of two by four's used to encase the grain bin, fell on top of him, striking the back of his head. Diehl's face was pushed into the concrete.

Warehouse spokesman said it was believed a gust of wind blew down the two by four's as the men were working in the bin.

Goldwater Presents Farmers With Vows

BUFFALO, N.D., Sept. 19 (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater denounced the Democrats' agricultural programs today and promised farmers "I will stop this bureaucratic meddling in your private affairs." As for world affairs, the Republican presidential nominee declared: "We have to undo all the horrible bungling of the last four years that has brought this country to war. Our country has lost the peace—the peace left to it by the Eisenhower administration."

Goldwater said, "We are at war because of a policy of weakness, a policy of inaction, a policy of indecision. I say and you say let's get an end to this tragic mess."

Goldwater has said repeatedly that the struggle against communist guerrillas in South Vietnam is, in fact, a war.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the national plowing contest, Goldwater said, "The nation would be a lot better off if our interim President would quit trying to run your farms and instead clean out his own stables."

"At least then his confused running mate, Hubert H. Humphrey, wouldn't have to sidestep so many issues."

Humphrey also has a speaking date today at the plowing contest.

"We pledge a farm program good for the farmer, good for the rancher, good for the nation," Goldwater said. "We support the Republican farm platform plank by plank."

The GOP platform promises "development of truly voluntary commodity programs for commercial agriculture," along with "price supports free of political manipulation in order to stimulate and obtain fair market prices."

Goldwater said farm income should be improved—but not with "arbitrary handouts subject to the whim and caprice" of the secretary of agriculture Orville L. Freeman.

Aside from this endorsement of the GOP farm plank, Goldwater did not spell out his solution to agricultural problems. In Raleigh, N.C., last Wednesday he talked about curtailment of farm price supports and control over a period of five to 10 years.

But most of Goldwater's farm country speech was aimed at the Democrats and the utility firms, peace through preparedness, not war through weakness."

Eisenhower Makes First Appearance

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 19 (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday made his first appearance before a political group in the 1964 campaign but gave only scant attention to contests outside of Wisconsin.

He gave a solid endorsement to an old friend, Wilbur Rens, the state's Republican candidate for the U.S. senate. He also asked the Wisconsin GOP to return the state "to our kind of principles."

But he did not mention the Republican national ticket of presidential candidate Barry Goldwater and vice presidential nominee William E. Miller.

2 Oregon Youths Fined on Taking Part in Riots

SEASIDE, Ore., Sept. 19 (UPI)—Two Oregon youths were fined a total of $800 in municipal court yesterday for taking part in a riot for their parts in the Labor Day week-end riots at this coastal resort community.

Arthur Vernon Rens, 18, Eugene, was fined $500 and sentenced to 60 days in jail on a charge of disobeying an officer of the law. Stephen John Ross, 19, Portland, was fined $300 and given a 30-day sentence for hindering an officer during the performance of duty.

Gov. Smylie Cuts Ribbon to Open New $580,000 4-Lane Highway at Rupert

RUPERT, Sept. 19—Gov. Robert E. Smylie dedicated highway 24 today, the new four-lane highway between Boise and Rupert. The ceremony was held at the intersection of Minidoka and Cassia counties and the nation during a brief ceremony at Heyburn Saturday morning.

Part of the ribbon-cutting ceremony which officially opened the new $580,000 four-lane highway between Rupert and the Burley-Heyburn bridge, Gov. Smylie emphasized the construction of the road with a ribbon-cutting ceremony to travel, work, shop and play and take their children to school more safely.

"Roads in the long run pay for themselves in less wear and tear and improved safety," he declared. The governor noted that taxpayers often want road expenditures cut but for a nation which lives on wheels "we have no choice but to continue to improve the highways," he declared.

The official noted in Idaho there is one auto for each six people compared to one for every three in the United States, one for every 10 in Great Britain and one for every 70 in Russia.

Reporting on an accident compensation statute high-ways 81 between Idaho Falls and Pocatello for 1963, he noted that the study showed the new modern highways are four times as safe as the old highways.

Completion of the new highway was brought about by the cooperation of the towns, working crews and the utility firms, he said. Almost all citizens in the three towns of Burley, Rupert and Heyburn were involved in the construction one way or another. The governor commended them for their participation during the construction period.

Construction on the four-mile stretch began last May with the opening of the new $580,000 four-lane highway between Rupert and the Burley-Heyburn bridge. (Times-News photo)

2 U.S. Destroyers Fire Upon Vessels In Gulf of Tonkin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara confirmed today that two U.S. destroyers fired on four threatening but unidentified vessels yesterday in the Gulf of Tonkin. The fog-shrouded nighttime incident 43 miles off the communist North Vietnamese coast ended when the approaching vessels disappeared from the destroyers' radar screens, he said.

The destroyers never got close enough to attack the American warships, he added. McNamara's announcement came 22 hours after he made his first formal announcement of the attack.

"The delay in reporting further on the fray appeared to have been caused by difficulty in determining exactly what happened. The incident occurred in bad weather at night, with visibility near zero. Reliable sources said, however, that communications was no problem."

Richfield Rodeo Draws Large Crowd

RICHFIELD, Sept. 19—Richfield's free Jackpot rodeo drew a large crowd Saturday and created excitement from the very beginning. During the first bareback riding event of the evening the horse and rider fell and the horse kicked through a fence, striking two spectators. The two, Mrs. Theo Olien, Richfield, and 11. Woods, Jerome, reported they were not seriously injured and remained for the rest of the rodeo. Another note of excitement was injected into the night's event when a brama bull crashed through a barrier and mixed with several of the bareback riding horses.

The bull had to be separated from the horses with "hot shots." The evening's excitement was dimmed when Mrs. Margaret Isabella Scholler, 70, Hagerman, was struck by a heart attack while a short time after she was rushed to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret Whitehead, Richfield.

LeRoy Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson, Richfield, was high money winner during the event, which is sponsored by the Richfield American Legion as part of "Richfield Day."

Johnson was first place winner in saddle bronc riding and second in bareback and brama bull riding.

Norman (Butch) Fulmore, Twin Falls, was high man in ladies barrel racing followed by Roy Couch, Shoshone.

Jan Peal, Fairfield, placed first in ladies barrel racing with Mrs. Dale Haslem, Richfield, second, and Mrs. Sidney Edwards, Jr., also Richfield, third.

Haslem and Couch teamed to place first in team roping. Blades and Bill Hurd, also Twin Falls, placed second in the event.

Block for the event was furnished by rodeo producer Earl Hutchison, Gannett.

Mediators Try to Head Off Strike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Federal mediators try again today to head off a paralyzing maritime "wildcat" strike set to begin Tuesday morning at dawn.

The White House and Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz issued a statement yesterday that the two sides representing 150,000 ship crewmen.

Francis A. O'Neill, a member of the national mediation board, is willing to negotiate over the week-end. J. E. Wolfe, chief spokesman for the railroads, said he hoped to announce a postponement or cancellation of the strike within 24 hours.

But Michael Fox, his union counterpart, was not as optimistic about a settlement. He said management's last proposal was "unusual to our intelligence."

Subcontracting of repair work traditionally done in the railroad shops and jurisdiction over coupling of air, steam and signal hoses appeared to be the two major issues blocking a settlement in the two-year-old dispute.

Relief

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (UPI)—President Johnson has allocated three million dollars in emergency relief funds to Florida for the major disaster caused by hurricane Dora.

The White House said yesterday the federal funds would be made available to supplement state and local funds. The President visited some of the damaged areas in northeastern Florida Sept. 18 and promised all possible federal aid in recovery efforts.

New Attacks Could Mean Aggression

SAIGON, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Communist China said today that U.S. attacks against Communist North Viet Nam as result of the latest Gulf of Tonkin shooting incident would be considered aggression against Peking. But it makes no direct threats against the United States.

The statement came from the Red Chinese chief of staff, Gen. Lo Jui-ching, in a broadcast by the official New China news agency from Peking. It came at a time when American armed forces in the Far East were alert against possible communist retaliation for the still shaky incident.

"Two U.S. destroyers and four North Vietnamese torpedo boats were believed involved in the nighttime incident. North Viet Nam reported 'many planes were in the air and many explosions were heard' but it gave no coherent account of the incident."

In Washington, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced that the two destroyers had opened fire on four unidentified vessels which threatened them in the Gulf of Tonkin about 43 miles from North Viet Nam.

Agents Have No News on Robbery

BOISE, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Local FBI agents say they have nothing to report in last June's $147,000 Idaho army national guard payroll robbery.

The money was taken from safes battered open on the second floor of the guard armory. It was to be used for a summer camp.

Some way at the armory has contributed a comment. On a bulletin board is a mini sign reading: "Crime does not pay, unless of course, you do it well."

Beatle Is Worried About Fans

DALLAS, Sept. 19 (UPI)—Ringo Starr of Liverpool said he was worried about the girls who tend to mope on the grass he has walked on.

"I just hope they don't get indication," he said.

Since there is more pavement than grass around Dallas' memorial auditorium, the first teen-agers who turned out 10,000 strong to listen to Ringo and his three friends last night had more to worry about than laryngitis.

The Beatles, featuring Ringo as drummer, sang for 30 minutes. The 10,000 made so much noise it was virtually impossible to hear them.

Police, 225 strong, turned out to hold back the crowd. It was orderly, except for the noise and several girls who fainted. One girl was carried out by police when she refused to stop leaning over the balcony to scream the name of Paul McCartney, one of the quartet.

Weather, Temperatures

MAGIC VALLEY—Cloudy and little warmer Sunday. Highs 61 to 72, lows 35 to 43, except Camas prairie, highs in mid 60s, 57 to 58. Outlook for Monday is forecast cloudy and cooler at night. Temperature forecasts include 42 to 70 at Gooding, 36 to 72 at Jerome, 43 to 69 at Burley, 39 to 68 at Twin Falls, 36 to 67 at Burley and 35 to 68 at Rupert. # AGRICULTURAL WEATHER SYNOPSIS

The afternoon surface chart indicates that the high pressure area has moved over the Pacific Northwest and the northern interior mountain region is slowly sinking southward and is now centered over southern Idaho. The storm system moving into the northwest coast will weaken as it moves south tonight with further weakening as it moves east of the Cascades tonight.

Mostly high and middle cloudiness will increase over the valleys of western Idaho tonight and Sunday spreading over the remainder of southern Idaho Sunday. The cloud cover will affect tonight's temperatures in the western valleys but will be too late to affect temperatures over eastern and central Idaho valleys to be of any value tonight.

Sufficient cloud cover should be present over central and eastern Idaho valleys Sunday night to give night time warming to that area. Clouds will decrease over the southwest Idaho valleys Sunday night and temperatures will be somewhat cooler western sections.

No appreciable precipitation is expected to occur since less than 10 percent of the agricultural area will be affected. Most showers actively will be confined to the mountain sections to the north of the agricultural valleys.

First Lady Fixes Roof On House

PRATTVILLE, Ala., Sept. 10 (AP)—The Republicans raised the roof—and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson had it fixed.

The roof in question covers the heads of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Cutler, the elderly Negro sharecroppers whose small shanty became something of a political ping-pong ball about the time President Johnson signed the antipoverty bill into law.

The Cutlers live on a 4,000-acre section of land near Prattville, Ala., owned by Mrs. Johnson, and which the first lady is turning into a tree farm.

When the "war on poverty" was begun, Republicans produced a picture of the Cutlers' shanty, along with a clinically detailed report of its condition, which, they claimed, was terrible.

According to the GOP, the roof leaked, the porch was crumbling, and the house was about to dis-

Nervous

CHICAGO, Sept. 10 (AP)—A nervous robber got away with only $73 yesterday because a slammed door scared him off.

A night hotel clerk, Walter Johnson, 60, said he handed $73 over to the man and was just getting ready to open the hotel safe.

But a gust of wind slammed shut the lobby door and the robber fled without a backward glance.

Integrate on its shaky foundation.

The house sports a new tin roof, a bolstered foundation and a new blue-front porch.

Mrs. Johnson had the roof added and the porch fixed, but the blue paint was Mrs. Cutler's idea.

Heyburn Man Gets Award For Safety

HEYBURN, Sept. 10 — Mr. and Mrs. Leo Handy, owners of the Handy Truck Line, were presented a plaque Wednesday from the Trailmobile Trailer company for an outstanding safety record in this state.

The plaque which is given through the Idaho Motor Transport association in cooperation with the American Trucking association, was announced at Sun Valley during the association's state convention.

Handy was unable to attend the convention and received the award through the mail. The award is for perfect driving for a year with no reportable accident.

According to Handy it is presented in different mileage brackets, and his was received in the division of up to 250,000 miles of highway driving. The Handy company recorded 224,000 highway miles traveled last year.

This is the third plaque the Handy company has received. Employees have been awarded four certificates for driving achievement. To the engraving on the plaque the association added "Safety Is No Accident."

Handy, a life-long resident of Heyburn and a trucking businessman—the past 26 years—is currently a member of the board of directors.

Handy was presented a 20-year, accident-free pin four years ago by the Farmers Insurance company. His son, Donald, who is a junior partner, has a 16-year record for not having a reportable accident.

The trucking, which employs five drivers, operates flat-bed and cement trucks. The main products hauled are bulk cement, sacked cement, lumber, and potatoes and commercial boxes. It has rights to haul general commodities state-wide.

Twin Falls Mortuary Now Is Under New Ownership

Berg's Twin Falls mortuary, formerly owned by Richard Berg, is under new ownership and management of Dale Patterson and William Boyd.

Patterson and Boyd, who have both been in the business for 10 years, have been operating the Twin Falls mortuary since Sept. 1. They attended the San Francisco College of Mortuary Science recently.

Patterson has been a practicing mortician in Payette for the past six years and Boyd has been located in Tucuman, Wash., for the last seven years.

Both of the new-owners have been active in civic and fraternal affairs. Patterson was seventh district vice president of the Idaho State Jaycees and a member of the American Legion. Boyd has been active in IOOF, Mason's and service clubs. They are both navy veterans from the Korean conflict and served in the hospital corps there.

Boyd said they bought the mortuary because "we liked the looks of the location and the plant. This looks like a good place to raise children," he said.

Richard Berg has moved to Elgin Harbor, Wash., where he has purchased a funeral home and cemetery. He plans to build a new mortuary there.

Talk on Sales Tax Given at Rupert Meet

RUPERT, Sept. 19—A sales tax may become law in the near future. If not during this session of legislature, perhaps the next, according to Tim Brennan, guest speaker at the Rupert Chamber of Commerce meeting held Thursday noon at the Hurling cafe.

Brennan, executive manager of the Idaho Retailers association, Boise, was addressing his 20th meeting in the Rupert Chamber of Commerce. He said members plans are being made to address 41 of the 44 counties in Idaho before the general election Nov. 3.

Brennan stated that legislation on the sales tax bill will be brought before legislators again this year, and feels it will pass the house without any trouble and eventually the senate.

The manner in which the bill is written is of grave importance, according to the manager. He also pointed out that the passage of the bill would bring problems in the collection of the tax by the retail merchant.

The budget for the year was $98,000,000 and should have been $101,000,000 to keep the state out of the red, Brennan stated. He emphasized that legislators will have to estimate budget of $117,000,000 when they meet in the next session. Education and public health will both ask for additional appropriations this year, and will not be available, Brennan said.

Additional revenues will be needed and ways available of collecting this tax include increasing the state income tax, increasing property tax and a transaction or sales tax. Also the head tax could be increased and additional tax could be placed on beer and cigarettes with a possible tax placed on soda pop, according to Brennan.

Thirty-nine states now have a sales tax and 18 of the 39 retain a percentage of the sales tax for the collection of the sales tax. The problems that arise from collecting sales tax is an expense to the retailer, Brennan said.

Employees must be trained to collect the tax which takes time and more employees have to be hired. Another burden assumed by retailer is that of credit items such as cars and other large items.

Brennan also discussed the unemployment compensation tax. He felt a flexible tax base on unemployment would be more advantageous to the employer. The wage went up the tax base also would go up. He also discussed briefly the necessity of some relief on personal property tax and inventory tax if the sales tax should become law.

GUINNESS introduced included State Sen. Rodney Hansen and

500 Guests Greeted at Elaborate T.F. Reception

BY NORMA HERZINGER

All is serene when the bride, resplendent in her flowing white gown, glides down the aisle toward the flower-covered altar and her waiting husband-to-be.

Behind her, though, is a period of confusion second only to something like a dam breaking upstream and letting a wall of water surge down a narrow canyon as people frantically try to get things done before the water arrives.

But if this getting the bride ready for the walk down the aisle is hectic—and it is—then one need only to look around the corner to the next hectic jump—the reception.

Like the preceding activity, however, it is done out of view of the guests and so, when they enter the reception hall, it looks quiet, dignified and with everything in proper order.

This situation, too, lasts only a little while, because the activity centering around the bride and bridegroom changes all that.

The wedding reception for Kathleen Lavens and Jerry Callen James, following the ceremony at the First Presbyterian church, Twin Falls, which was staged at the American Legion hall, is a good example and was one of the largest of the year.

It was all fun for everyone. The bride was the center of "oh" and "ah's." Her blonde hair glowed and her gown was "out of this world." She was the center of attraction.

She cut the first piece of wedding cake and fed it to her husband. She shook hundreds of hands in the receiving line. The husband did too, of course. She danced her first dance of wedded life with him while the orchestra played background music, and they toasted each other. She was fair game for bachelor kisses.

Practically unnoticed were the women who served the punch and the cake and carried the used dishes to the kitchen and washed them and refilled the punch bowl and did the thousand and one things necessary for a proper and successful reception. These women make the reception.

One could skip all this, but half the excitement of the wedding day is the never-to-be-forgotten events of the wedding reception.

The stately and beautiful bride, Kathleen Karen Lavens, who once reigned as "Miss Rodeo America," and Jerry Callen James were united in marriage Aug. 28 in a candlelight ceremony at the First Presbyterian church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Kenneth R. Lavens and the late Kenneth R. Lavens, Jerome. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Harold C. James and the late Harold C. James, Twin Falls.

The double ring ceremony was performed before the altar and altar candles and baskets of white gladioli by the Rev. Robert C. Harvey, Twin Falls, and the Rev. George Barnhart, Jerome.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Tim Lavens, wore an Ora-Rose Ann original floor-length gown, featuring a Chantilly lace bodice with deep scalloped neckline and lily point sleeves. Tiny satin buttons and a lace bustle accented the back waistline. The full skirt was fashioned with a Chantilly lace panel cascading into nine tiers of tulle and lace ruffles which formed a long chapel train. The tiers of lace were edged with imported Italian crystals. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was held by a crown of matching pearls and imported Italian crystals. She carried white roses and white streamers tied in love knots on a pearl studded Bible, borrowed from her sister, Mrs. Denzel Larsen, and used in her wedding.

As tokens of sentiment, she wore the traditional blue garter, a gift from Mrs. Imogene Anderson, college roommate of the bride. She had a penny in her shoe and a 1910 French coin belonging to the bridegroom's mother and worn at her wedding. The bride's only jewelry was a pearl and diamond pendant.

Wilma Giesert, Jerome, secretary of the bride, was in charge of registering and displaying the gifts at the reception, assisted by Terry Standen, Julius Hopwell, both Boise, and Diana Bowman, Wendell. Terri Larsen and Michelle McLean were giftbearers. (Kelker photo)

rosebuds, lovebirds and good luck horseshoes, was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and centered on the bride's table. The cake was flanked by silver candelabra holding blue tapers. Approximately 500 guests were served at the reception. (Kelker photo)

Buhl Man Notes Stand of NFO in U.S. Agriculture

The NFO does not advocate or condone violence, and seriously regrets violence from whatever source, but it is evident that the plight of the farmer has been dealt with so lightly by constituted government and by responsible business people, that a Wisconsin truck driver felt privileged to drive his truck through a group of farmers, killing two men and injuring three others. It's time someone wakes up!

Farmers everywhere are deeply indebted to the memory of the two Bonduel, Wis., farmers who were killed while they engaged in peaceful demonstration to dramatize the plight of the family farm. In Wisconsin, 120,000 families live on the farms and 50,000 are categorized as poverty families. In Idaho, 100,000 families live on the farms and 25,000 are categorized as poverty families. These families to help themselves except by peaceful demonstrations when no one else seems to care?

It is time that all concerned recognize that the National Farmers Organization is a new force in agriculture and must try to understand it and its goals.

There is nothing unique or new about anyone going to attack a price for farm products relative to the cost of other goods and services. The difference is, the National Farmers Organization is a century, offering agriculture a method of marketing which will accomplish this long-sought objective. NFO people don't intend to attack their efforts until this goal is accomplished.

The time has come for the rural business and professional people to understand that the farmer is only the first recipient of the farm income; it filters in to every nook and cranny of our economy. The farm dollar is a dollar with a lot of mileage, but it has to be earned by the farmer first. This is what the NFO is endeavoring to do for the United States.

Get the farm dollars started through the economy by getting them earned in fair and adequate quantities at the farm level. No one in our country can safely ignore the dire need for a better price at the farm level.

I extend my sympathy to the families of the Wisconsin farmers who have their lives in an effort to benefit all American farmers. I very highly respect the members and officers of NFO for their continued and determined efforts to solve the problem.

Import Program Is Blamed for Destroying Jobs

Editor, Times-News: As well as adding the American worker with this tremendous debt, the liberals have destroyed over five million jobs in this country due to their import programs. In the past five years more than 9,000 industries with 10,000 branches have moved out of the United States.

The average citizen is now the victim of a double squeeze play which was carefully planned by the liberals, the socialists and the pro-communists. The late Senator Malone warned congress of this double play and said, "it was the plan of the liberals to bring the free enterprise system to its knees."

It should be obvious to everyone that our free enterprise system is doomed unless all so-called liberals are removed from office this year.

When a government takes 40 per cent of the profits, that nation does not long endure, and William J. Baxter said, "This nation has gone crazy, have we?"

Tuttle Woman Says Demos Are on Socialistic Road

Editor, Times-News: Why, oh why, can't people see the socialistic road that the Johnson-Democrats have mapped out for us.

It was so obviously spelled out at Atlantic City. First they took all the content vote out of their convention by sending home delegations with any opposition.

The Negroes have been fighting to be heard, now that they are, they don't want any opposition to be heard. Take away contest and you take away democratic way of life.

The also denounced the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch society, but left out the most extreme groups that are absolutely without any doubt communist and socialistic groups. Their leaders are known to even more because President Johnson seems to be listening to them. Anyway, he is going along with their riots to get the vote of the black man.

The other extremist group is much more frightening than the John Birch society because they openly advocate "foreign socialistic totalitarianism." This group is called "Americans for Democratic Action." What most people should know is that the very first chairman of this group was Hubert Humphrey, and he is still a vice chairman. Why did President Johnson fail to mention this along with all the other facts of Humphrey? He didn't want people to know just how far left he went to pick the man to run with him.

Please, people, read about the Americans for Democratic Action. CORE and NAACP before you vote!

Woman Calls Letters About Mental Health Erroneous

Editor, Times-News: Since writing to the Public Forum, giving some reasons why we need a mental health clinic, I have received some letters, all of them anonymous, trying to convince me of the error of my thinking.

One letter signed "Conservative" contained some literature against a mental health clinic, which is probably being widely circulated. Anyone who reads with understanding will see the fallacy of its reasoning. I am sure.

It is taken from the book "None Dare Call It Treason." I have read the book—and the whole book distorts the truth. If the reader would look up the references given by the little numbers throughout the text, he would get quite a different picture.

Reading it is like looking at a beater through a tiny peephole with a magnifying glass in it, that does not show the whole stink.

Filer Man Feels Taxes on College Would Be too High

Editor, Times-News: The question of a junior college to be paid for by property owners of Twin Falls county is again being promoted.

I attended the meeting reported in the Times-News, and my impression was that the testing was lukewarm on this issue among a big majority of those present.

It was announced that the expenses of the two speakers were underwritten by Riddle, Riddle and Reitz, their clients, and were not mentioned. Jack Shaw, manager of Sears, was the moderator.

Information from both speakers was in general, regarding a junior college with history of the Boise junior college and emphasis on the tremendous economic value of a college to the Twin Falls merchants.

I asked one of the "Committee of 25" why a plan was not made for a multi-county district, and was informed that this could not be accomplished. There has never been an honest, unbiased effort made for such a district; the former effort was solely to the advantage of the Twin Falls merchants.

Former press releases by Mr. Shaw, cautioned the voters not to confuse the formation of a junior college district with a bond election; no mention was made of the automatic authorization of an eight and one-half mill levy, now the information has been made public.

Eight and one-half mills with much more to come. Boise junior college has a budget of one and one-half million dollars; based on Twin Falls county assessed valuation, this would mean a tax bite of 33 mills or $33 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Based on Idaho education of "Idaho" proposed multi-county district, the tax would amount to $11 per $1,000 assessed valuation.

We will be assured that even the eight and one-half mills will not be necessary to start; anything to get a foot in the door. Let's face facts, not propaganda.

Times-News Taken to Task For Albion College Story

Editor, Times-News: The Wednesday, Sept. 15, Times-News carried another big black blast at Magie V. V. Christian college in Albion. This has been the third or fourth such detailed "story" about the school at Albion in the past two years.

The Times-News is an excellent publication with a noteworthy staff, but there are times when its powers that be take a stand and, in order to put across their point, they sling just a little too much mud for good taste.

The Times-News is obviously strongly supporting the idea of a junior college for Twin Falls county, and it is granted by supporters of this proposed educational institution that the college at Albion would be competition to the success and growth of any junior college Twin Falls might initiate.

But I feel the Times-News has once again gone entirely too far to support a cause. I don't know how others feel, but I feel that a newspaper that purports to be serving the best interests of its readers should be as unbiased as possible, taking into consideration, of course, that a newspaper is the creation of human beings and could never be entirely cold and factual.

Wendell Woman Feels Editorial Was Not Fair

Editor, Times-News: Being an informed citizen I have become somewhat used to reading attacks on views of others, but even I was appalled by your editorial of Sept. 7.

It was an absolutely unwarranted attack—a personal attack—on two fine, honest, hardworking men whose only "crime" is to have the courage to stand up and fight for the rights of the people of Gooding county.

Tell me, what do you stand to gain? Frederickson and Ravencroft represent the people of Gooding county. Whom do you represent?

Come now, let's not be telling all of southern Idaho how to vote until after reappointment has been accomplished your way.

Do You Know What Individual Enterprise Has Accomplished in Developing IDAHO IRRIGATION?

- Idaho's rate of irrigation development is OVER TWICE that of the other ten western states.
- Idaho now has more than 1,000,000 acres of land producing crops with water electrically pumped from wells and from the Snake river itself. This irrigated acreage is growing, by use of pumping, at the rate of 50,000 acres per year.
- Without subsidy of any kind and with an investor-owned power supply, Idaho's enterprising farmers are clearing desert acres and putting them into production by electric pumping at a pace equal to adding another great new Twin Falls southside project—200,000 acres—to the economy of the state every four years!

Under the impetus of individual enterprise and using taxpaying risk capital, Idaho irrigation development is progressing much faster than many people realize, and doing it consistently year after year, thus putting to beneficial use the waters of the Snake and its tributaries.

It is apparent from the successful record that Idaho's time-tested approach to water utilization is producing results, and doing it in a manner that does not jeopardize the welfare of existing agricultural investment.

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 19 (UPI)—Tim Lavens' 29-yard field goal in the third period tonight gave Idaho a 3-0 win over San Jose State in a hard-fought defensive battle between two defense-minded squads.

Tigers Come From Behind, Beat Pilots

Glenn Perry then marched to the 10-yard line and scored on a one-yard plunge by quarterback Jim Blair, who also got the extra point.

N.Y. Wallops A's, Tighten Hold on Lead

SWARMED UNDER at the end of an end sweep, Murtaugh's Brian Ward collapses under three Oakley Hornets during Magic Valley conference action Friday afternoon. The Hornets went on to claim a 14-6 victory. (Times-News photo)

Oakley Hands Devils 14-6 League Setback

MURTAUGH, Sept. 19.—The Oakley Hornets cashed in on a pair of misfired punts yesterday and defeated the Murtaugh Red Devils 14-6 in a Magic Valley conference game. Oakley's defense whipped Murtaugh's line often enough to control the game fairly well, but the Red Devils chipped in with four fumbles and a pass interception to make it ensior.

With a high wind determining all the strategy, the game was entirely defensive until the Hornets struck for all their points in four minutes of the third quarter.

The Oakley forward wall rubbed the Devil punter Brian Ward and his boot squibbed off his foot and went out of bounds behind the end zone line. The 10-yard line, Murtaugh's line appeared to have held when Oakley faced a fourth and seven but Bedke, shifted from tackle to fullback this week, hammered for the first down and then plunged for two yards and the touchdown. Jeff Maggarelli converted.

Four plays after the ensuing kickoff, Murtaugh was forced into another kicking situation with the first down. Love missed a low pass from center and the Oakley line poured through. Leon Robinson blocked the kick and Dick Clark scooped it up on about the 10-yard line and ran into the end zone.

Slung into action the Red Devils bounced back with a march and benefited from a 15-yard penalty. The drive seemed stymied at the 40-yard line when they fumbled and Oakley recovered. But on the next play Bedke faded back into the end zone to pass, was hit and fumbled. Love fell on the ball for the touchdown.

T.F. RIPS MINICO; BURLEY BLANKS BUHL

Strong Rambles For 51 Yards on Game's First Play

A 51-yard scoring jaunt by Scott Strong on the first play of the game pointed the Twin Falls Bruins to a 6-0 victory over the Minico Spartans Friday night and gave the unbeaten Bruins their third victory of the season. Strong, who raised his point total to 42 with three touchdowns against the Spartans, burst through the middle of the line on his opening sprint. It was the fifth Twin Falls victory in six games of this rivalry between Magic Valley's two largest schools.

Minico surprised with a good short-pass offense at times and junior fullback Tom Polindexter, who pounded, almost carried the Bruins to a fourth quarter touchdown. Until Polindexter spearheaded a 60-yard march, the Spartans had a net minus yardage on the ground.

After such a heady start the Bruins spluttered with two fumbles before regaining a sustained attack midway through the second quarter. Then they went for a touchdown and led 20-0 at halftime.

Minico got its first scoring chance when Twin Falls fumbled a punt at its own 40-yard line. Quarterback Jim Whistler tossed three soft passes that carried the Bruins to the 14-yard line before Twin Falls held.

Early in the second quarter Twin Falls started its second drive with a strong rushing attack. Minutes later the Bruins again went marching. John Astorquia passed to Larry Satterwhite along the way and Mike Sessions, who seconds before had picked up 12 yards on a fourth and two situation, dove to the 20-yard line.

At the third quarter began, Twin Falls picked up two first downs and then on third and four, Tom Lyness, rambling 40 yards for six points, set a record. With 1:18 left in the quarter, Astorquia hit Jim Hawley with a 25-yard pass and seconds later Strong went over from the line.

Polindexter then brought Minico back with its most serious bid of the night. He literally carried the whole Bruin team with hard drives up the middle for two first downs, then burst away for a 31-yard gallop for a first down at the Bruin 18-yard line. A penalty and short pass got another first down before Whistler hit Polindexter with an apparent touchdown pass but a penalty nullified it. Two plays later Dave Churoli came up with an interception to end the bid.

After Churoli ran the ball out to the 10-yard line, the Bruins scored in two plays. George McGee

Thorne and Indians Tip Bulldogs 31-0

SHOSHONE, Sept. 19 — Shoshone's defense was the key in holding Kimberly scoreless last night as Steve Thorne scored three touchdowns and George Trinkle and Thorne Cangeliershipped in one place for the Indians' 31-0 victory.

Shoshone's defensive squad stayed off a Bulldog rally in the second half when Kimberly moved to the Shoshone 10 following an intercepted pass. Kimberly tried unsuccessfully to move it up to Shoshone.

The Indians made all their tackles come on sustained drives with the longest run being 30 yards. George Trinkle kicked the lone extra point of the game.

Northwestern Edges Out Beavers 7-3

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 19 (AP) — Steve Murphy's rushing and one hot hand by passing ace Tom Myers lifted Northwestern to a 7-3 opening football victory over Oregon state today.

Coch. Alex Agass's debut was a success as Northwestern drove 95 yards for its touchdown in the second quarter and a hard-charging defense never allowed Oregon states' multiple offenses to get into gear.

Murphy, who gained 84 yards in 24 carries, clinched a Northwestern touchdown drive with a one-yard plunge, after Myers completed six of seven passes in the drive to set up the score.

Oregon state's only score also came in the second quarter, when the Beavers recovered a fumble on the Northwestern 47 and marched to the Northwestern line and were thrown for a loss and had to settle for a 22-yard field goal by Steve Clark.

Adams drove for 19 yards and then fullback Larry Spiera, after appearing to be stopped at the 60-yard line, shook away and went 67 yards for the final tally.

Gooding Drops Filer to Clear First Hurdle in Big Eight Race

GOODING, Sept. 19 — Defending Big Eight conference champion Gooding cleared its first major hurdle last night when the Senators dropped the Filer Wildcats 21-7. Ron Adamson and Dan Hendrix paced the Gooding crew but the win proved costly when senior halfback Rusty Purdy sustained a broken arm and will be out for the remainder of the season. Filer, which fumbled seven times against Jerome last week, had the same trouble, Gooding using a fumble and blocked kick as springboards for its first two touchdowns.

Gooding lost an opportunity early in the game when it recovered a fumble near midfield but the fumbling got them another chance a few minutes later. The Wildcats tried to punt but Gooding's David Neal broke in to block the kick and Gooding took over at the 35-yard line. After Hendrix hit for two yards, Filer broke the shutout bid midway through the third quarter when it placed together an 11-play march and benefited from two 15-yard penalties. Mike Touchette, who again anchored Filer's defensive unit, anchored in from a yard out.

On the ensuing kickoff Gooding mounted a sustained drive that covered 65 yards in 11 plays. Along the way Ron Adamson had runs of 21 and 30 yards, which helped the Senators overcome a 15-yard penalty. Adamson finally got the last two yards.

Purdy hit Adamson with a 23-yard scoring pass. Hendrix then added the first of three conversions by running. Filer replied with an eight-play drive that carried to Gooding's 35-yard line before fizzling. The Senators quick-kicked out of trouble and on the next play the Wildcats fumbled with Bob Mink recovering for Gooding. In nine plays Gooding covered 30 yards with Hendrix driving in from three yards away.

Filer broke the shutout bid

First Play Gives Shorzman-Paced Bobcats 6-0 Lead

BURLEY, Sept. 19 — John Schorzman returned Buhl's kickoff 40 yards for a touchdown last night and paced the Bobcats to a 6-0 victory. The Indians threatened only twice during the game. Once they got within 17 yards of the Bobcat goal but were forced back and had to punt. The Indians lost the other threat on a fumble in the fourth quarter.

The second tally for Burley came just minutes after Schorzman returned the kick. Dave Toner took a 10-yard pass from Terry Jones on the Indian 30 and dodged the Buhl defense all the way to the line.

Buhl's first chance came in the second quarter after the Bobcats made four tries for a first down but were stopped on the Indian 10-yard line. Buhl made his first two downs through the air and then marched to the 40-yard line from quarterback.

Clark Griffin to Mike Pierce and Hurley Bennett. At that point the Burley defense crashed through the line and dropped Griffin twice for 14 lost yards and an incomplete pass. The Bobcats took charge of the ball just before the half ended with the score 10-0.

Pierce returned the second-half kick-off 15 yards, but after that only five yards were gained and the Indians punted. After a penalty nullified a 23-yard gain the Bobcats forged to the 40 on a five-yard penalty and a 20-yard run by Pat McDonald. From there they moved on the ground to the 40, were forced back to the 43 and punted the ball to the Indians on their own 13-yard line.

Buhl brought it up to the 38 and then a 10-yard run by Hurley moved it down the field from the Indian 38 to the three-yard line in five plays but were given a five-yard offside penalty on the next attempt which left Jones with eight yards to cover for the final touchdown. Vance Matthews kicked the extra point.

Pierce returned the kick 20 yards to the Indian 30 and along with Randy Baxler drove through the stout Bobcat line to the 10 on handoffs from Griffin. At the 10 Pierce drove for five yards and Griffin made two before the ball was lost on another fumble. That gave Burley the ball with only minutes remaining in the game. Led by Jones and Schorzman, the Bobcats made it to the Buhl 14-yard line before they were stopped.

Buhl again made a stab at a touchdown but lost the ball on an intercepted pass at the 23. Burley started the ball back downfield but was stopped by the gun.

Navy Defense Stops Penn State 21-8

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP) — Navy's hard-charging defense stole the show today from All-America quarterback Roger Staubach as the Midlies defeated upset-minded Penn state 21-8 in their 1964 college football opener.

Navy cashed in on a fumble and two pass interceptions, one a 64-yard touchdown run by Duncan Ingraham in the third quarter, for its three touchdowns.

Meanwhile, Penn state almost broke through in the first quarter when a 100-yard drive ended in a 13-attempt for 44 yards and held him to minus 14 yards on the ground.

The turning point came in the final quarter when Penn state's Bill Huber dropped a potential touchdown pass on the Navy two with the Midlies leading only 6-0.

The heart-breaking pass from quarterback Gary Wydmann bounced off Huber's chest and ended Penn state's final thrust on the Navy 17.

Navy's Fred Martin intercepted a Wydmann pass several minutes later on the Penn state 17 and raced to the six to set up the final Midlies' score. Halfback Tom Lohar carried over from the 14 with Martin adding his third extra point.

after the ball was lost on another fumble. That gave Burley the ball with only minutes remaining in the game. Led by Jones and Schorzman, the Bobcats made it to the Buhl 14-yard line before they were stopped.

Buhl again made a stab at a touchdown but lost the ball on an intercepted pass at the 23. Burley started the ball back downfield but was stopped by the gun.

Bartholomew Leads Camas By Richfield

RICHFIELD, Sept. 19 — Bill Bartholomew ran through Richfield's defenses yesterday for five touchdowns and one extra point and led Camas County to a 40-7 victory and the Mushers' third straight win. The win pushed the Mushers' undefeated streak to 10, though they were tied once last year.

The first half saw only 13 points scored by the Mushers and none by Richfield. Richfield's only tally came in the second half when Roy Parker rushed over from four yards out. Jan Jensen scored the extra point for the losers.

The second half was when Richfield's defenses came alive and the Mushers tallied up the remaining 27 points. Dave Cox was the only other point getter for the Mushers with one touchdown and three extra points.

Convicts and Patrolmen Shoot It Out

LUMBERTON, N. C., Sept. 19 — Two escaped convicts and two highway patrolmen shot it out by the lights of a patrol car near here early today.

A patrolman and a patrolman were killed in the gun battle.

The second convict was killed from wounds about four hours later, ending a three-day reign of terror which began when the convicts escaped from a central prison work detail in Raleigh.

Officers said during that time they stole a car, obtained arms and ammunition from a national guard break-in and were linked with the wounding of a defenseless farm couple.

Highway patrol Capt. Tom B. Brown, commander of Troop B, identified the dead as highway patrolman James Hugh Marshall, Jr., 21, a trooper only seven weeks, and Olin Junior Fowler, 40, Nichols, G. C., whose life term for accessory to murder had been commuted to 99 years.

Brown said the patrol car carrying trooper Cecil Mack Denning, 42, and Marshall, who was driving, came upon Fowler and William G. Perry, 32, Franklinton, N. C., the escapees, as they walked down the south-bound lane of Interstate 85 about five miles north of Lumberton.

Officers said it was a short distance from where they abandoned a stolen car.

Broken lines in this aerial view looking into North America's deepest gorge indicate where 40-foot-diameter tunnel will extend 1,800 feet through rock on canyon's Idaho side. As shown by arrows, river's entire flow will enter tunnel through upstream portal at right and discharge through downstream portal at left, thus sidestepping dam and powerhouse work area so construction can proceed under dry conditions. Location of concrete dam, which will tower 320 feet above bedrock, is indicated by solid line. Peter Kiewit Sons' company of Omaha is building the tunnel for Idaho Power under a $4,804,329 contract awarded early in August.

Hansen Notes Discontent In Area Visits

GOODING, Sept. 19 — Governor Hansen will have a new perspective after the November election this year if present trends continue," stated Governor Hansen, Republican candidate for re-election, in a campaign visit through the Magic Valley north side Friday.

Continuing his three-county-a-day schedule, Hansen spoke at a no-host breakfast at Burley and a luncheon at Fairfield and an evening rally at Hiley. He also visited Shoshone, Gooding, Jerome and Cassia, going to various organizational meetings.

Hansen said he has observed a great current of dissatisfaction with the current administration in Washington, and a determination to make a change. He cited farm unrest over consistent and ineffective agricultural policies as one of the major problems.

"There seems to be a great deal in thinking between my opponent and the farmer, who is very tired of government by dictation rather than by representation. The incumbent continues to assert that he is in position to do much for Idaho because he has a so-called open door to the President, and because of his position on the house agricultural committee," Hansen said.

"This is a shocking admission of his own ineffectiveness in light of his inability to reduce the farmer from uneconomic tariffs, low prices and agricultural controls.

"Beets, potatoes, wheat and livestock are the backbone of Idaho's agriculture, and all are threatened when our representative becomes so hamstringed out-of-state considerations that he can't do justice to the economy of his own state.

"To safeguard agricultural prosperity in Idaho it is necessary to oppose further federal control on farmers. We must encourage commodity programs that will give the farmer a free of political manipulation. The wheat certificate bread us on consumers must be repealed. And export of surplus farm commodities through long lines of agents, repayable in dollars should be encouraged."

CITY OF ROCKS area near Oakley is filled with unique formations such as this natural arch. It took hundreds of years for this to form and it has maintained its shape perhaps about the same length of time. It looked like this when the first wagon train came through the "City" just 121 years ago. The 25 train members could have, in all probability, climbed up and sat in the same place occupied by Burley District Ranger Merlin Stock. (Times-News photo)

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1964

BURLEY DISTRICT RANGER Merlin Stock seems to be restraining a large, prehistoric dinosaur from moving further out into the open in this picture. It is only one of scores of odd bits which form animals, buildings, castles, faces and other likenesses, without much imagination required. At present the City of Rocks area is owned by the State of Idaho, the Sawtooth national forest and private interests. This particular rock is near the main road and easily accessible. (Times-News photo)

BETWEEN THE INITIALS HM at the top of this picture, and the name W. Moorh, at the bottom, is a barely legible name and date which discloses that some pioneer, using wagon grease, put his name and date there on July 23, 1843. That was just six years after the first wagon train went through the City of Rocks. This inscription is on Signature rock. Many signatures on another rock, called Camp rock, have been defaced by people in recent years. (Times-News photo)

BATHING ROCK is one of the great landmarks of the City of Rocks area south of Oakley. History tells that, before the white men, Indians climbed to the top of this rock to bathe in a basin which catches rain water. When the white men came they too, used the "tub." Today a few hardy individuals still climb to the top, but whether or not they avail themselves of the opportunity to bathe—when water is in the basin—is a matter of debate. The first—and last—City of Rocks bathing beauty contest was held at the base of this rock about 1936, the brainchild of Charlie Brown, Oakley newspaperman who during his lifetime was a strong advocate for establishment of a national monument at the City. (Times-News photo)

TWO ROCK TURTLES, one large and one small, have been dominating the skyline of a portion of the Oakley City of Rocks since white men first visited the area. This picture graphically shows the two rocks which resemble turtles. A small turtle can plainly be seen scampering up the back of a large one. The area is gaining renewed attention as efforts are continuing to make it either a national monument or a part of the national forest. (Times-News photo)

Mules, Not Oxen, Pulled Initial Wagons Into City Of Rocks 121 Years Ago

By O. A. (GUS) KELKER
Times-News Feature Editor
OAKLEY, Sept. 19—History is full of surprises.
One bit of history which carries a shocker of a surprise is that the first pioneer wagons to go through the City of Rocks on the way to California were not pulled by the slow, plodding, lumbering and heavy wooden-yoked oxen.
History seems to bear out that fact that the first wagons—which traversed the area 121 years ago, practically to this exact day—were pulled by mules from Missouri.
Another interesting sidelight is that these same mules got the wagons from Independence, Mo. (or thereabouts), past Ft. Hall, through the City of Rocks and across most of Nevada, but they never got them to California.
The mules got through, as did members of the train—that is, except one mule which was consumed for food—but the wagons were abandoned before the San Joaquin valley was reached.
The trek, after leaving the "City" section, attempting the jump over the coast mountains much further south than later trains.
Before the train traversed the mountains, it was on foot or horseback.
The first wagons went through—and the occupants no doubt camped at—the City of Rocks on Sept. 22 or 23 in the year 1843.
In the train were 18 men, two married women, two single women and five small children. There were either three or six mule-drawn wagons. If the number was less than six, then some had been abandoned even before the City of Rocks was reached.
This is not crystal clear, but the number of people and the fact they left Ft. Hall on Sept. 16 is very clear. It is a matter of record in western history.
The story of how the 25 people who first rode wagons on what was then just starting out to be a trail to California is an interesting one.
It started when Joseph B. Chiles, who had been a member of the Hartson party to California in 1841, made up his mind in 1843 that wagons could reach California.
As a member of that first party of emigrants to attempt to open a trail to California, he was one of a total of 33 in the group. Most of them were under 30. The one woman was about 18 years old and carried with her a baby girl, 1 year old.
This group, however, did not get close to the City of Rocks, passing south of Great Salt Lake. Their trip was a sad one which say them reach California, but without the wagons, and with practically all of the stock gone and the young mother plodding along barefoot carrying her child.

They assured their place in history, though, by being the first party of American emigrants to reach California overland.
So, having made the return trip in 1842, Chiles was determined to prove wagons could go through all the way. He didn't make it on the 1843 trip, but a portion of the party—led by one Joe Walker, who had joined it near Ft. Bridger, Wyo.—was the first group of wagon train emigrants through the "City."
Walker, then about 45 years old, was a true mountain man and ranked with Jim Bridger in importance. He had first led an expedition to California in 1833—without wagons, of course.
Finally reaching the Ft. Hall area, there was not enough food for the company split. Much of the food was sent with the wagons, history relates, and with the wagons went the four women and five children. Walker would be in charge.
The two groups left Ft. Hall Sept. 16, 1843. The horsemen followed the trail to Oregon (through what now is the city of Twin Falls, for instance) and reached Ft. Boise. Finally, early in November, they reached Sutter's fort in California.
The wagons, with Walker in charge, expected to get through to California in about 60 days, branching off the Oregon trail at what is now known as Calder creek (near American Falls) instead of continuing to Raft river and then turning south as later trains did.
No diary has survived from this trip, from this point on but the only way led through the City of Rocks and these 25 people brought the first wagons through and made history, although they to the company split. Much of

Life in MAGIC VALLEY

A happy reunion was held at the Veri Okeberry home, OAKLEY, on Mrs. Okeberry's sister, Mrs. Robert (Joan) Norfolk, Raleigh, Essex, England, visited them. This is the first time in 15 years, since Mrs. Okeberry came from England, that she has been able to see any of her family which includes five sisters and one brother and her parents. Mrs. Norfolk admitted that several days in Oakley and the West really gave her a start as she did not expect to find it quite as it was. She pointed out that she thought the day of menaring Lewis was in the past and she felt that she was really the West by the looks of the wearing apparel. Something else that really rounded her was the rodeo at she attended during the state stake Pioneer days celebration. She supposed that this was of western life was strict in the movie business and was extremely disappointed when she found out it was at night so she can't take any moving pictures to bring home with her. She likes Idaho very much and that the scenery was equal to any of that in her part of the world, with the exception of the "Grand Canyon" and the "Grand Canyon" and the "Grand Canyon". She notes, "the grass is exceptionally green and there is a small green plant with a tiny flower on it everywhere, along with grass, a type of grass."

Her husband is employed in the house of parliament and is supervisor of the social functions during the seasons. While here she attended an LDS Relief society work day where members of the ward came to the meeting and quilted and tied two quilts. Mrs. Norfolk admitted that she had never seen it done in her country and was quite fascinated by the procedure. Mrs. Okeberry's mother-in-law presented Mrs. Norfolk with a star pattern quilt to take home with her. The Okeberrys made a trip to Shoshone falls and were extremely disappointed when they found no water going over. On her return trip to New York, Mrs. Norfolk planned on stopping at Niagara falls. Although she was very disappointed in New York she was very pleased with the rest of the country she saw and felt the 23-day tour was wonderful. It was with misgivings that the two sisters parted, but they hope sometime in the future they will be able to see each other again. Not everyone takes the doctor's orders as well as did W. L. conformity. "Maybe nobody else ever did it, but I think I can," is the perpetual cry of the inventor, the innovator. But it has never been easy to stand apart. There are times when standing alone hurts, when it means giving up something that we had rather keep. Alfred deMusset wrote, "How glorious it is—and also how painful—to be an exception." To stand alone is never easy and restful. To stand for truth should be easy, but deMusset always costs something. (Daily) Waldo Emerson said, "God offers to everyone his choice between truth and repose. Take which you please—you can never have both." When mediocrity ceases to be a goal, we accept the burden of being different. But we also push the lid that would prevent our reaching the heights of our abilities. "True education makes for inequality; the inequality of success; the inequality of talent; of genius; for inequality, not mediocrity, individuality, not standardization, is the measure of the progress of the world," wrote Felix Z. Schell.

One of the Crowd
We ought to be extremely moral. The Bible has some beautiful examples of people with courage to stand alone for right, to be non-conformists—to be extreme, if you please. There were many who said, "I'll do what's right if it means standing alone. I hope it will work out right. But if not—if it costs—I'll stand alone for the right." The three Hebrew children, in the fiery furnace, were dreadfully conspicuous. They had said, "We believe that our God is able to deliver us, but if not, we still will obey Him." What reckless! What extremists! But God was in it, and He Himself walked with them and brought them out without even the smell of fire on their garments. Queen Esther, grieved over the fate of her people, the Jews, stood alone in the palace house, holding the determined—perhaps to do the impossible—approach to the king on her own. She counted the cost ahead of time: "If I perish, I perish." The goal was worthy of the cost. But the king did hear her plea, and her people were saved.

As mature people, as Christians we must be wary of the pressures of personality adjustment, group identification, social acceptability. We must beware the teenager's cry, "But everybody's doing it!" We must be strong enough to say, "If it's not right, I'm not doing it!" We must hold before us the values of leadership, of courage, of conviction, of valiant action. We must be careful. If I hire an accountant, I want him to be extremely accurate. If I have a doctor, I want him to be extremely careful. If I have a judge, I want him to be extremely fair. If I hire an accountant, I want him to be extremely accurate. If I have a doctor, I want him to be extremely careful. If I have a judge, I want him to be extremely fair. If I hire an accountant, I want him to be extremely accurate. If I have a doctor, I want him to be extremely careful. If I have a judge, I want him to be extremely fair.

Furniture Talk

By RUSS CUNNINGHAM

HEAVY DUTY

Furniture might seem to belong more in a doctor's office, say, than in your living room. But many a woman has gazed longingly at a beautifully furnished "model room" only to shake her head and sigh. "It would never last in my house!"

The fact is that in many homes, if not in most, the living room has to be a "heavy duty" room.

At different times of the day it will see children sprawled on the floor watching television, pots vaulting over the furniture, drinks spilled on tables, hands stretching out on the sofa with their shoes on.

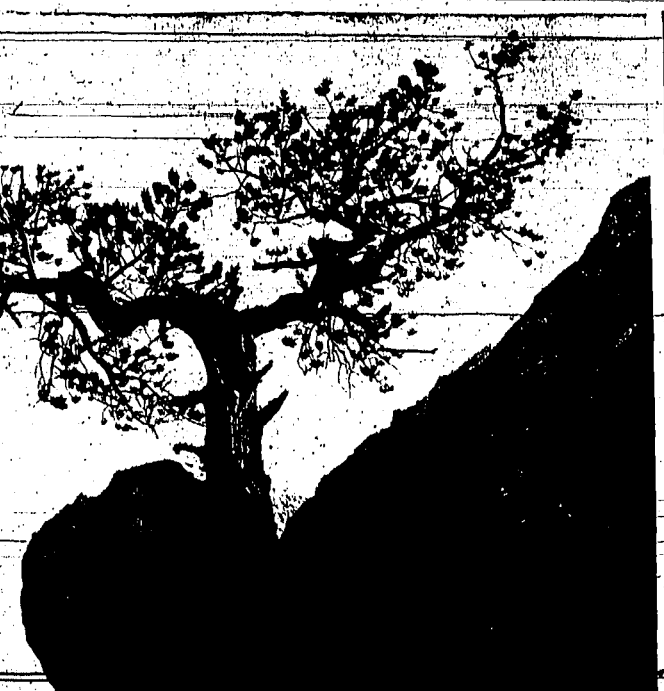

Such a room can still be beautiful—and serviceable. Mar-resistant, alcohol-resistant table tops are a boon. New colors and textures in such fabrics as Naugahyde make upholstered pieces both handsome and durable—and easy to clean.

You can also choose Scotchguard-treated fabrics, or have existing pieces treated. Scotch treatment makes fabrics stain-resistant and easier to clean when accidents occur.

So bear service in mind when you furnish—and you'll find our displays full of ideas for your home in tables and upholstered pieces designed to stay beautiful under the heaviest use. Stop in and see.

by painting their own names over them.

The preservation of the City of Rocks is paramount in importance. It could be done, residents say, through establishment of the national monument.

Others say that with more than 25 years of opportunity passed up by the department of the interior in getting this job done, perhaps the forest service, in the department of agriculture, should take over and by congressional action build roads in the area, construct lookouts and police the grounds.

Right now the Sawtooth national forest, the State of Idaho and some private individuals own the City of Rocks.

Almost anyone concerned with the area agrees that something has to be done soon to preserve for posterity this historic site where the pioneers en route to California camped and repaired their wagons, where the pioneer youngsters played in surroundings which are the same today as they were then, and where just 121 years ago the first wagons went through toward California.

The Indians who frequented the area down through the years, the emigrants to California, the covered wagons, all are gone. Only the rocks remain.

did not know they were making it and cared less at the time.

Walker and this group established more than 500 miles of the route which became the trail to California.

The five youngsters, the women and even the men must have looked in awe when they first saw the City of Rocks with the strange shapes which exist until today and attract modern day "pioneers."

Little did they realize that the trail they made through the Oakley City of Rocks would be the path which thousands would take to California when gold was discovered at Sutter's fort in 1848 and the "49ers" flocked west.

Walker and his charges were the first. They were not the last. Wagon trains came through this area until the railroad was constructed across the nation, a little more to the south, in the 1860s. Some wagons even made the trek as late as 1880.

Now this same area is enjoying a new birth as a result of designation as a historic site. Actually it means only that it is recognized as such, will be designated on official maps and will be visited by more people. This step alone will not bring more and better roads, more facilities for tourists and more ways to preserve the heritage which down through the years has been defined by some.

It was back in the early 1930s that Charlie Brown, then owner-publisher of the Oakley Herald, made the supreme effort to have the City of Rocks designated as a national monument. Everyone listened to Brown, but few did anything. With his death the Herald died and apparently the dream of the monument.

Now the dream is once more alive, being pushed by J. Newell Dayley, an Oakley pioneer.

Only recently he reported to the Chamber of Commerce that Sen. Len Jordan and Interior Secretary Udall had told him the City of Rocks ranks in sixth place in the line of receiving the national monument designation.

Right now the Craters of the Moon bears such a designation. Dayley, like Brown in his lifetime, "pushes" the City of Rocks. During the past season he has personally escorted around 600 tourists on tours of the unique area. As a highway board member he also has pushed for better roads so that now, although they are gravel and dirt—the City of Rocks roads are better and more useable than they ever have been.

The strange rocks of the region take on imaginative and grotesque shapes with the movement of the sun. The look is different in the morning, different in the afternoon and different in the evening. It is ever changing.

Here are castles, great houses, towers, strange animals, faces—practically anything that can be dreamed up by the imagination.

Here are rocks where the early pioneers wrote their names and the dates of their passing in wagon grease. Here, too, is where later residents—including some

IDAHO LANDHOLDER-SPORTSMAN COUNCIL asks all hunters to obtain permission from property-owners before going on private lands in search of game birds or animals. The council slogan since it was formed 10 years ago, has been "Hunting by permission" and the familiar sign with its trademark, the cooperative triangle, has been placed on hundreds of farms, opening thousands of acres to public use. (Times-News photo)

Vandalism in Recreation Areas Isn't Always Work of Fishermen or Hunters

BY E. KLISS BROWN

IDAHO, Sept. 19 — Vandalism in Idaho outdoor recreation areas is the name for the condition and the people involved in committing the violations are vandals. There is no other definition possible, and it is time we quit referring to the culprits as hunters or fishermen.

This was the sentiment voiced by the Idaho Landholder-Sportsman Council representatives and their chairman, Alvin Benson, Boise, rancher, when talking about hunter damage to farm and ranch property. The subject was kicked around at considerable length by the council when they met in Boise, Aug. 20, to plan the fall hunting season program.

It is interesting to note that this last meeting of the council completes 10 full years of work towards the goal of improving landholder-sportsman relations in the state. The keynote or working slogan of the council's program has been "hunting by permission." And, the idea, based on some very sound legislation passed several years ago, has been successful in most hunting areas of the state.

As long time rancher-farmer Ray Swanson, Pocatello, said a few years ago, there is simply no person in the state but what should know that it is necessary to ask permission before hunting on private lands.

The results of the council's educational program have been good. To say it very simply, the past 10 years have seen lots of "no hunting" signs come down from Idaho farms and to be replaced by the "hunting by permission" type.

Almost everyone now recognizes the familiar council trademark, the triangle, referring to the co-operation that is necessary among the landholder, sportsman and the fish and game department. There is no doubt but the whole idea is paying off in keeping a lot of land open to the free lance hunter that otherwise would be closed.

But, in spite of the good progress that the council can point towards, a real and troublesome problem still persists — vandalism, and it is very real. One single act of vandalism on the farm can result in it being closed to hunters from here on out — and understandably so.

Who wouldn't be, rip-roaring mad if he had a prize cow shot in the head with a .22 bullet and left to die. Or who would put up with someone tearing down his backyard fence and making a bonfire with it.

We could go on and on with examples like these, and, unfortunately, they are still happening. That same, small percentage of people still persists who refuse to recognize the rights and property of others. You find them in any activity you can think of — or in almost any part of the country.

The great majority of Americans are good people, and they they love and use good sportsmen. It is this small one or two per cent that causes all the headaches. They are the ones who make the formation of groups like the Idaho Landholder-Sportsman Council necessary. This minority element is hard to reach, too. One of our Idaho district conservation officers recently ran across one of them in violation of the game laws. When questioned, this man actually swore up and down that he never reads the newspaper, doesn't have a radio or television set and never goes to meetings. He didn't know — hunting — cents was needed to hunt rabbits.

In other words, the best information program that was ever devised cannot reach the ones that need it the most. Right here we could fold our hands and agree that if we can't reach them, why fret and worry?

We could sit back, observe more of the acts of vandalism and turn our backs on more "no hunting" signs going up. It would be real easy to do that. And, with that sort of a feeling, it wouldn't take long before the European system would take over and one of the finest of American traditions — freedom in hunting and fishing — would go right out the window.

This matter isn't restricted to private lands either. Thousands of dollars are spent by the state highway department every year just to replace signs damaged by gunfire. National and state forest officials report more thousands lost in replacing picnic tables, sanitary facilities and signs to say nothing of forest fire losses caused by careless people.

In these cases, the public itself is the landholder, and again, everyone loses when vandalism occurs. Naturally the whole picture isn't bad. In the way of progress we can cite several examples of real success in improving landholder-sportsman relations in the past decade.

Take famous Silver creek, for example. About eight years ago, things were going so bad along this stream that farm operators were about to go out in arms to stop the whole fishing season. Again, vandals, not fishermen, were tearing down fences, trampling up front yards and trampling down fields of good cattle feed.

One landowner reported that someone had come into one of his outbuildings and actually built a fire on the floor, apparently to cook a lunch. Who knows?

Fortunately for the many trout fishermen who dearly love to cast a fly on Silver creek waters, a solution was found to the problem. To begin with, farm owners along Silver creek again exhibited the same Idaho spirit that still persists today in making our state the great place to live that it is.

They called for a meeting. Sportsmen from the area and Twin Falls came to the Pocatello store and sat down with Silver creek ranchers and the fish and game department men to talk about the problem.

Everyone had a chance to air his complaint, solutions to the problem were suggested, and by the end of the meeting it was agreed that the whole thing would be given another chance. In the days following the meeting, fish and game department workers and organized sportsmen went to work.

Signs were devised of various kinds. Some directed fishermen to parking places that the landowners had agreed to. Next to the stream, signs were erected so that fishermen could cross fences without damaging them. Litter barrels were placed at various points for the use of the general public.

At the main entrance roads to the area, large signs were erected to remind everyone that the whole area was included in a project to improve landholder-sportsman relations. And it worked.

ed. Damage complaints were reduced — almost to nothing. Silver creek is still available to the free lance fisherman.

True, there still are problems and probably always will be, but people here have learned that where there is a will there is a way.

Other projects and local programs could be cited in many parts of Idaho from the panhandle region to Island Park with varying degrees of success. The fact is that we can never rest on our laurels in keeping Landholder-Sportsman relations on the upward trend. The best program ever devised can be all but eliminated by a few careless individuals.

This sobering thought brings us back to the opening statement of this little article. Let us quit once and for all this practice of putting the blame on sportsmen, hunters or fishermen and place it on those who should be labeled — outright vandals.

The Idaho landholder-sportsman council urges everyone in the state to examine the problem in its true aspects and then proceed to cooperate in effecting a solution. They believe that once the people of Idaho see the problem as it truly exists and make up their mind to do something about it, conditions will improve immeasurably.

First of all, the council recommends that all law enforcement agencies make a number one priority out of running down these vandals and bringing them to justice. There is no doubt but that this will produce results.

On the other hand, the whole idea is doomed to failure before it gets off the ground without the help of John Q. Public. We will arrive at the solution when every Idahoan makes it his responsibility to recognize these careless, and sometimes vicious, acts of vandalism, and either puts a stop to them or brings the information to the proper authorities so that something can be done.

It no longer will suffice to shrug our shoulders and say that this or that was done by some careless fishermen or hunter. The proper labels must be applied and the blame placed on the shoulders of the ones causing the problem.

It used to be of little concern when a ranch was closed to hunting because someone shot a cow, because there were always a dozen more ranches just over the hill to go to. That condition isn't true today.

There are a lot more people today in the out-of-doors seeking recreation and there are actually fewer acres available for recreation, hunting or other forms of outdoor sports. Sportsmen simply have to make better use of what is left, whether it be public or private land, and one of the easiest and best ways is to practice the Golden Rule with farm and ranch friends, and of course the same applies to hunting and fishing areas on public lands.

Virgel D. Mattson Improves Heyburn Electrical System While Manager

HEYBURN, Sept. 19 — In August, 1948, Virgel D. Mattson fulfilled a long time desire of coming west when he moved his wife and family to the Magic Valley area.

Mattson found it quite difficult to leave his parents, brothers and sisters in Nebraska and Kansas, but he felt the best way to learn to handle responsibility was to get away and be on his own. The decision was his and he has never regretted it. As he puts it, "Coming to Idaho was the best move I have ever made."

Mattson resigned last week as Heyburn village manager to take a position in Boise. An electrician by trade, Mattson reorganized the entire electrical system for the village during his two years in office, enabling it to have four times the capacity to furnish electricity to the various areas within its boundaries.

Prior to this time, the village had received services and maintenance from the Rural Electric Company, but now it has its own crew, equipment and transformers and is in the process of building a substation north of the airport operations.

Mattson was commended by Mark Lundy, Boise, head state electrician, for the manner in which he re-wrote the electrical ordinance that is now in operation at Heyburn.

He was born June 24, 1922, at Elm Creek, Neb., to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Mattson. His mother died Aug. 21 in North Platte, Neb. He was next to the youngest in a family of four girls and two boys. He attended elementary school and two years of high school in Nebraska.

The family moved to North Platte, where he was graduated from high school in 1941. He worked at construction for a year and joined the navy where he received training in electricity and mechanics.

He served as village representative with the Mindock county zoning committee. It was during his term in office that the village was completely surveyed by an engineer for curb and gutter grades for future installation.

Mattson has taken three extension courses from Idaho State university, Pocatello, on business administration, human relations, and public speaking. He has also taken the Dale Carnegie course. His goal is to go back to college and receive a degree in business administration and city management.

His activities include camping with his family, reading, tennis, swimming, singing, and sports. He enjoys contact sports and football, although he has never played the latter. He frequently sings for weddings and special occasions.

Mattson believes that people should accept life and its responsibilities. His theory that families should stick together seemed to be shared by a resident in the village in one instance when he was trying to enforce the new year-round dog leash law.

Mattson picked up a female dog on the street and impounded her. The next day he discovered a "kit" of several small puppies belonging to the dog, sitting in a box at his doorstep. Unsuccessful in his attempts to have the owner claim the family, he took the dog to the pound where they were cared for and raised by village personnel and later given away.

His theory holds strong for his own family. Mattson's biggest concern and the most important thing in his life, is his wife and three children, Duane, Pamela and Terry, all of whom live at home. Duane and Pamela are active members in the Magic Valley Youth for Christ choir. Mattson feels that during his life he will have accomplished something worthwhile if he can make his family happy and be a good example for his children.

Sierra Club Members End Volunteer Work on Trails in Sawtooth Section

OBSEDIAN, Sept. 19 — Thirty-five members of the Sierra club's national conservation organization with headquarters in San Francisco, have completed a work project which saw them labor for nearly two weeks on a reconstruction project above Ingene lake. The lake is located in the Sawtooth primitive area.

Sawtooth valley Forest Ranger Ralph Cisco announced the volunteers who served without pay on a vacation that combined recreation and work—were mostly high school graduates and college students. They camped on the trail during the work period which, it is estimated, saved the forest service $3,500 at current trail construction costs.

One of the main functions of the Sierra club, which has a nationwide membership, is the publication of conservation literature and portfolios, and the photography work in these publications, according to Cisco, is unsurpassed. Summer trips for members include cleanup activities, trail work, river trips, high country back-packing trips, burro trips and other outdoor activities.

Heavy gear for the Sawtooth area work party was packed in by Ted Williams, a local resident and packer. The group leader was Rick Polsdorfer and Dr. Gordon Dunn was present for the entire time. Polsdorfer recently was graduated from Harvard and is planning on attending the medical school at the University of California at Los Angeles this fall.

The nearly mile-long trail reconstruction project was directed by Ted Wilson, Jack Fleming and Jim Ginn. Wilson is the foreman of the Sawtooth forest trail crew. He also handled the

Formula Is Given for Rebellions

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Sept. 19 — If any man wants to try another coup in Saigon, he would be well advised to follow some time-tested ground rules.

Events of the last five years in this troubled capital show a rebel leader hoping for success should:

- Seize and hold Saigon airport early in the game.
- Be sure in advance that the Americans will help him—or at least not work against him.
- Know that he can count on all the officers he has lined up, without fear that they may defect when the going gets rough.
- The rebels who tried to seize control of South Viet Nam last Sunday failed on all these points, and their coup collapsed.
- But the fiasco held some object lessons for incumbents, too.
- The biggest was this: If you want to weed out undesirable elements from your armed forces, do it gradually and discreetly—not in batches.
- The airport lesson should have been learned in 1960, when President Ngo Dinh Diem came within a hair of being overthrown. Four battalions of paratroopers stormed into the city from the airport and, with supporting armor, surrounded his palace Nov. 11, 1960. They had the situation all sewed up except for the reluctance of rebel commanders to smash their way in immediately.
- Time passed and units loyal to Diem arrived in Saigon to smash the paratroopers. Even so, most of their leaders were able to make it back to the airport and fly into exile in Cambodia.

Significantly, some of those 1960 coup leaders, now officers in the armed forces once again, were back at the airport Sunday, this time on the loyalist side.

Among them, "Doc" Diem, Gen. Nguyen Khanh Thi, who in 1960 commanded the rebel paratroopers. Now commander of the army's 1st division, he is a man worth watching.

The point is that if you hold Saigon airport and have troops loyal to you anywhere in the country, you can fly them in to your support.

The Vietnamese premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, is aware of this and has been spending much of his time outside Saigon.

When Sunday's coup began, he quickly flew to his command post in Da Nang, 140 miles northwest of this city.

The man on whom destiny turned, significantly, the commander of the air force — Brig. Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky, 34, a handsome, American-trained officer.

A hotshot pilot speaking faintly in English, Ky changed his mind on flying overseas, strapped on a pistol, and moved fast when the rebels entered Saigon. His plane was in the air within minutes.

Ky's warm relations with U.S. air force officers probably saved Saigon from being devastated by bombing.

To Iron or Not to Iron With Iron Seems to Present Pressing Problem

HEYBURN, Sept. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. Orvin C. Jenks have two irons, one for ironing clothes and another for watching TV. It wasn't too long ago that they had only one iron. But they found it inconvenient to watch TV and iron clothes at the same time, so they got another iron.

It all happened when the Jenks family moved last Aug. 6 from a house east of Heyburn, in which they had resided the past 10 years, to a newer farm-house area 13 miles south of Heyburn. They not only left their neighbors behind, but their television antenna as well. According to Mrs. Jenks, the antenna was too hard to get down and it didn't work too satisfactorily anyway.

It seems the "all-American family" is normally made up of TV fans, and the Jenks family wished to stay among this category.

They checked with several Burley merchants to learn what could be done in the line of "rabbit ears" to get them reception from the Twin Falls station. Everyone they contacted discouraged them by saying in their vicinity reception would be nothing more than impossible.

What could be worse, they thought, than living out in a lonesome area, without neighbors, telephone or TV. Jenks, who studied a little along this line in the navy, got one of his wife's silver knives and made a contact from it to the TV lead wire.

The children's anxiety was stirred when a "fuzzy" picture appeared on the screen. Not let them down, he sent for his wife's iron and connected the

Smoking Cars On Decrease In California

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—It's even tougher for cars to give up smoking—and the withdrawal symptoms are terrible. California has set 1965 as the deadline to equip all autos registered within its borders with anti-smoking devices. Legislators are finding that the law has some backfire.

The measure seemed uncontroversial at the time it was passed, with more than half the state's assemblymen sponsoring it.

But today complaints are pouring in from motorists who blame the devices for everything from increased gas and oil consumption to more smog.

California, the only state that has such a law, is the proving ground for anti-smog legislation. Air pollution is a big problem in most states but probably biggest in California with 10 million cars on the highways.

The department of motor vehicles has received 20,000 complaints since January, according to D. A. Jensen, the motor vehicle board's executive officer.

Most of the complaints come from drivers who own older cars and have used the crankcase anti-smog device, he pointed out.

He said the complaints were very few considering that four million California cars now carry the device and blamed the trouble on faulty installation.

Lawyer Jennings, co-ordinator for the Citizens for Sensible Suppression of Smog, disagreed with Jensen.

He contended it was "ridiculous to blame it on faulty installation by mechanics who are capable of handling far more sensitive car parts."

But the air is clearing.

The nation's big four of the auto industry has announced that all their 1966 autos sold in California—but only in California—will have a revolutionary anti-smog apparatus.

Only about 15 per cent of the gas in a car is burned; the rest goes out the exhaust.

New Garage To Be Built At Gooding

GOODING, Sept. 19.—Leo Rice has announced plans to build a new garage on south Main street in Gooding. Construction will begin early in October on a site across highway 40 from the ranch bowl.

The floor plan provides for 12,222 square feet. Building measurements are 108 feet by 177 feet. According to Rice this will provide a show room, general offices, sales office, meeting room, and a private office for him.

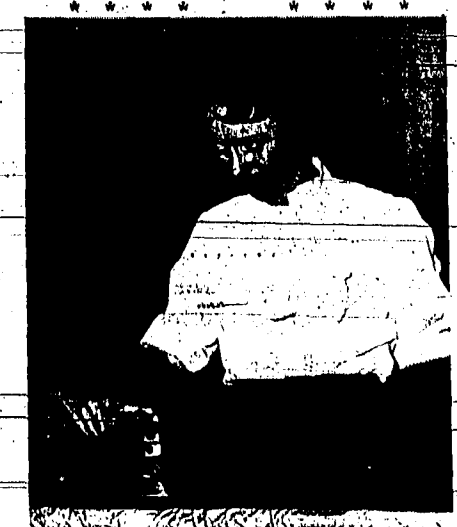

An upstairs special conference room is included in the plans. There will be a large body shop, expanded parts department and a spacious service department with more than double the present area.

A special entrance with overhead door will be constructed for heavy duty trucks, and customers will be accommodated with a special receiving and parking lot. There will be a 20-car parking lot for employees.

The building, which will represent approximately $125,000, was designed by Watson and Leatham, Boise architects.

ATTENDAS MEET

JEROME, Sept. 19.—Mrs. Aloysia Hor left by plane Thursday morning for Dallas, Tex., to attend the national convention of the American Legion and auxiliary.

TELEVISION SCHEDULES

SUNDAY, SEPT. 20

"Wagon Train," (6:30 p.m. ABC)—Trimmed by a half hour, this series moves to new times at 6:30 p.m. Tommy Randal, Robert Ryan, Vera-Allen and Andrew-Prine star in an episode concerning outlaws seeking revenge against a ruthless lawman.

"Lincoln Center Day," (Special, 7 p.m. CBS)—Second of five annual telecasts commemorating the opening of New York's Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts. Focal point this time is the Repertory theater and viewers will see excerpts from Arthur Miller's "After the Fall" and other dramas.

"Broadside," (Premier, 7:30 p.m. ABC)—New half-hour comedy is a satire version of Moby-Dick, with Kathy Nolan as leader of a squad of waxes who turn up as replacements for a motor pool on a World War II Pacific tale.

BEST SUNDAY NIGHT MOVIES

"Love in the Afternoon," (1957) Gary Cooper, Audrey Hepburn, Maurice Chevalier and John McEwen—A rich U.S. businessman, with breezy comedy involves Cooper, a rich U.S. businessman, with breezy comedy involves Cooper, a rich U.S. businessman, with breezy comedy involves Cooper.

"The Vikings," (1958) Kirk Douglas, Tony Curtis, Ernest Borgnine and Janet Leigh (4 p.m. KCPX and KTVB and 8:30 p.m. KMYT and KID)—Lavishly-produced film about the invasion of England by Viking warriors. Well-made, but loses a lot of its spectacular scope by not being shown in color.

"Book Hack in Anger," (1958) Richard Burton, Claire Bloom and Mary Ure (9:55 p.m. KUTV)—Brilliant, provocative drama based on the successful Broadway play. Burton, as usual, chips in a magnificent performance as a poor, angry young man whose bitterness against the upper middle class threatens to destroy his marriage.

MONDAY, SEPT. 21

"Voyage to the Bottom of the Sea," (8:30 p.m. ABC)—Hunt for field and Linda Cristel head the guest cast for an episode in which the atomic sub discovers a "Oily Beneath the Sea," title of the segment.

"Many Happy Returns," (Premier, 7:30 and 8 p.m. CBS)—John McEwen appears in this new situation comedy as manager of the complaint department in a large store.

"Slattery's People," (Premier, 8 p.m. CBS)—Richard Crenna stars as a young state legislator involved in the many problems, political and otherwise, linked to such an office.

"Hollywood and the Stars," (8:30 p.m. NBC)—Paul Newman is the subject of tonight's documentary episode and is shown working on the set of "The Outrage."

"The Lullaby Show," (7 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. CBS)—Lucy Kelly rolls into the 1964-65 season with a purchase of a pair of light-fitting roller skates.
